It is estimated that the cantaloupe shipments from the Imperial Valley this season will run within 16,000 cars.

It is believed by shippers that the total tomato shipments from the Imperial Valley for the season will amount to around 200 cars.

A regional office to serve as a point of contact between the Bureau of Agricultural Economics and the public and private marketing and research agencies, will be opened July 1. in San Francisco. It will serve the Southwest, and later one will be established for the Pacific Northwest at a city still to be designated.

Shipments of cantaloupes from the Imperial Valley have exceeded preseason expectations and at the present time approximately 150 cars have been sent out. Damage from mildew has been negligible in spite of humid weather and general reports from eastern points indicate that the fruit is arriving in good condition.

Both quality and size of cherries are comparing favorably with the normal and good prices are being realized in eastern markets. All producing regions are now shipping the fruit and carload lots are being consigned. The crop is estimated to be from 25 to 50 per cent of normal and about 35 per cent of last year's.

Miller & Lux, owners of the San Joaquin and King Rivers Canal and Irrigation Company, Inc., have asked the State Railroad Commission for permission to sell that property to the San Joaquin River and Water Storage District for $4,400,000. Concurrent with the application, the irrigation district applied for authorization to make the purchase.

Thousands of pheasants for distribution throughout the state will soon be available at the State Game Farm near Yountville, Napa County, according to a report received at the capitol from Superintendent August Bade, announcing that 800 birds are being hatched daily at the institution and that this production record will be maintained for several weeks.

The San Joaquin Cotton Growers' Association has surveyed the crop outlook for cotton and estimates that there will be approximately 90,000 acres planted this year, and it is reported the Western Cotton Mills has purchased the large beet-sugar plant at Corcoran to be used as a cotton-textile factory. They expect to install machinery soon for 4000 spindles.

The fact that there is a good demand for cattle to the north and east of California, and that cattle are moving freely at steady prices to markets in those sections, is the best evidence in the world that California markets should remain steady, and that the cattlemen can, if they will, go through the best year it has been their privilege to enjoy for over a decade.

At a recent meeting of the Imperial Valley Citrus Growers' Exchange, a resolution was passed which deprecated the further planting of acreage to grapefruit, and copies of this resolution were sent to chambers of commerce, farm bureaus and similar organizations throughout the State. The exchange holds it to be economically unsound to extend the grapefruit area at the present time.

The indications are that the Redlands district has broken another record for navel oranges this year, for shipments were recently not far from the 5000-car mark and some shipments still remained to go. It is said that there are close to 1000 cars of Valencias in the district. Prices this year will not average as high as those of last year, as heavy shipments in February broke the market badly.

The Kings County Packing Company expects a large crop of apricots this season, and 'cots will be reaching the canneries in volume before long. There are 3500 acres of bearing apricots in the county and except in a limited area where the Easter day frost did some damage, the yield will be normal. Opening prices for both fresh and dried apricots are high. Peaches promise to be a good crop and both growers and canneries expect the season to be a profitable one.

Score another intercollegiate victory for the University of California —this time in the Adonis sweepstakes. 27 CITIES SEEN FROM LOMA PRIETA

Twenty-seven towns and cities and all the forest and brush land on the Santa Cruz and Ben Lomond ranges is visible from the new lookout station established on Mt. Loma Prieta, the highest point in the Santa Cruz mountains. Its height is 3806 feet.

About a week ago for the first time in history there was a speaking communication from the peak of Loma Prieta with the outside world, although signalling has been accomplished from the peak.

Donald R. King, newly appointed state ranger to be stationed at the new lookout, and State Forest Ranger Geo. Gillette of the Santa Cruz Side, talked over telephone with the Los Gatos Chamber of Commerce who were among the foremost boosters for the station, and instumental in raising some of the money.

Mr. Gillette stated that it was necessary to stretch about three miles of wire across canyons, brush, rocks and rattlesnakes. He included the latter, as they ahd killed four rattlers while putting up the wire.

The wire was strung from the nearest telephone connection, the Moeller ranch, on the mountains.

The lumber is at the Marks place to be taken to the summit for the signal station, similar to the one on Saratoga summit. From Loma Prieta Mr. Gillette states that practically all the forest and brush land on the Santa Cruz and Ben Lomond ranges is visible, and from the summit can be seen 27 towns and cities.

This means, when the signal station is erected, that the trip to the summit will be a popular one.

J. D. KUSTER SPEAKS ON GAS PRODUCTION

John D. Kuster, district manager of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company of San Jose, gave a most interesting and enlightening talk on the manufacture and distribution of commercial gas before Kiwanians Wednesday. Gas was discovered through experiments in 1797 and soon was used in the larger cities of the east. San Franicsco wa sthe first city to use gas on the coast and San Jose began in 1860. The industry has grown so that during the winter months the San Jose plant makes about 5,000,000 feet for consumption in this county daily.

The growth in Campbell district has been 36 per cent in the four years past. The mains during the same time has been extended from 194 to 322 miles again of 66 per cent for the entire San Jose district which as Mr. Kuster stated necessitated digging some dirt.

With aid of a colored chart the manufacture of gas was clearly explained to an interested group. Percy Dunlap of the Service Garage was chairman.

Mr. E. A. Rogers of Montezuma School for boys will be the speaker next week and Dean Chauncey Whitman will preside.

Ella Swanson and Helen Buck of the Campfires served at the tables.

"ALL KIWANIS NIGHT" OBSERVED MONDAY

Joining in with the 1621 Kiwanis Clubs all over the United States and Canada, all of which will meet simultaneously, the Kiwanis Club of Campbell will observe "All Kiwanis Night" in conection with its celebration of the annual International convention in Memphis, Tennessee, at Library Hall on Monday, June 6th at 6 p. m. The meetings thruoghout Canada and the United States are to be observed as a united expression of devotion to the ideals and objectives of Kiwanis.

All clubs have arranged the time of their meeting so that the "Zero Hour," when 99,209 Kiwanians on the continent assemble to observe the "Fellowship Moment of Silence," will be held simultaneously with that in the convention city. The message to the clubs by the president of Kiwanis International, Ralph A. Amerman, of Scranton, Pennsylvania, will be read at Monday's meeting. This will be the fourth time in the history of Kiwanis that such a meeting is held. At the Denver, Saint Paul and Montreal conventions similar observances marked the opening activities.

It was not possible for our club to be represented at the convention this year but a number of our friends of neighboring clubs will attend and we will no doubt have a message from Memphis to be read at Monday's meeting. The "All Kiwanis Night" program at the convention's opening will be broadcast from Memphis over WMC.

The committee in charge of our meeting has arranged a very fine program ot begin promptly at six o'clock when all Kiwanians and their wives will gather to observe "All Kiwanis Night." The "Zero Hour" program will consist of the Felowship Moment of Silence, the reading of the Kiwanis Message from President Amerman and the singing of Kiwanis songs. Then will come the eats and a general good time, after which President Tac Cutting will give an address on "The Meaning of All Kiwanis Night" and Dean Whitman an address on "Kiwanis and Fellowship." Special music will be furnished by the Willis Brothers.

Lucky in Auto Crash

Egbert Thompson, who is associated with Worthin Grattan in his garage was the victim of an auto accident from which he was most fortunate to escape alive or without serious injury.

Saturday he took Margaret Austin over to Santa Cruz to join her mother and sister over the holidays and was returning shortly before midnight. When this side of Alma his machine was struck by a drunken driver and overturned two or three times completely demolishing the top. Being a closed car was probably what saved his life, and he was fortunate enough to escape with a cut on his cheek.

The driver of the other car hit another machine soon after and in that his own machine was crippled so that he was arrested and taken to Los Gatos.

More New Homes

Work on the several new homes being built in Campbell is progressing rapidly. A. W. Johnson's home on Alice Avenue is nearing completion, the built features being nearly finished. Wm. Skiff's on the same street has reached the interior wood work stage and the Walker Vaugn's (nee Ethel Curry) has the framework and partitions set. S. J. Manfre's on Campbell Avenue is at about the same stage. Several small houses in other in other parts of town are in various stages of completion. Altogether they indicate a substantial growth in our community.

This is the last meeting of the year and should be a big one. Bring suggestions for next year's program.

ROY MILLER SHOT AT HOME SATURDAY

This community was inexpressionbly shocked when it learned Sunday morning of the tragic death of Albert Roy Miller resident of Casey Road, who was shot and an instantly killed the night before. It is alleged that Joseph C. Jean of Los Angeles fired the fatal shots.

Mr. Miller was married but two weeks ago at Redwood City and he and his wife were living happily at their home. Jean, the common law husband of Mrs. Miller had refused to make any property settlement with her and Saturday came to Campbell and visited the ranch just as Mr. and Mrs. Miller were retiring.

Acording to her story, Mr. Miller took his gun in his bath robe pocket at her suggestion when he went into the room. During the altercation she stated Jean deliberately shot him, in the head, and through the heart, the bullet lodging in the spine. He then threatened her and finally when she grabbed a flash light he hit her on the head. As he fled she shot at him with her husband's revolver, one bullet being found later imbedded in the machine.

She then roused the neighbors and Dr. W. I. Merrill was called and the Sheriff's Office notified.

Sunday afternoon he was arrested at King City and booked on a charge of murder. He admitted his identity but denied any knowledge of the shooting.

An inquest was held Wednesday afternoon and the verdict was that Mr. Miller had been killed by a bullet fired by Jos. Jean. He was immediately arraigned before Judge Southeimer and preliminary hearing set for Saturday.

Funeral services were held this morning at 10 o'clock from the parlors of Hocking and Williams, and interment was at Oak Hill cemetery.

Mr. Miller is survived by his wife, Mrs. Zada Miller, three children, Mrs. Ruth Eddlemon, Vernon and Bennie Miller, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Miller and sister Mrs. Edna Russell.

His parents, sister and her husband arrived Thursday from Cedar Rapids, Iowa to attend the funeral.

Kings County is ready for fires that may break out in the great wheat fields on the Tulare Lake bed. J. C. Griswold, county fire warden, has had the county fire trucks and chemical tanks put in first-clas condition and placed conveniently for any emergencies. The farmers operate volunteer fire patrols covering the lower Kettleman hills territory and the Sunflower Valley as well as the grain fields of the Tulare Lake bed. Owing to the vigilance of these patrols, there have been no grain or range fires in these sections for several years.

Farmers in New York, Illinois, Pennsylvania and Michigan are the most interested in California farm lands, according to inquiry figures compiled for the month of April by the Stockton Chamber of Commerce. During that period, 239 inquiries relative to farm lands, were received. New York farmers sent in twenty-four inquiries; Illinois farmers, twenty; Michigan farmers, twelve and Pennsylvania farmers, eleven. The remainder of the inquiries ranged from three to ten from thirty-one different other States.

Shipments of tomatoes from the west coast of Mexico have practically stopped and the markets are now being supplied by the Imperial Valley and Texas, while the East is receiving stock from Florida and Mississippi. Acreage of tomatoes in Mexico will probably be materially reduced next season as overproduction during the period just closed has taxed the ability of the shippers to distribute adequately the fruit. It is expected that several import shippers will be

ADDING LAURELS TO LINDBERGH

History was made in the world of aviation when Charles Lindbergh hopped from New York to Paris without touching land or water. The deed was daring, the feat was marvelous. People are saying that it was the interpid and dauntless spirit of American youth exemplified. But it was more than that. Lindbergh has proven how simple, after all, is aviation.

Granting that he knew how to pilot an airplane; and granting that the motor was in good working order, and that he had fuel enough,—the latter a matter of mere calculation,—all he had to do was to start up at New York and keep going until he sighted Paris. He had no icebergs to encounter, no leaks to spring in the boat, no broken rails to wreck his train, no jungle beasts to pounce upon him, no traffic cops to arrest him, no dangerous intersections to pass or bad curves to negotiate, no blowout to patch, and NO BACK SEAT DRIVERS!

Courageous men have gone before Lindbergh. The Norsemen sailed the uncharted seas. Columbus didn't even know there was an "America" to discover, but pushed boldly out and sailed on with mutinous crew. The North Pole and round-the-world flyers were in great peril at times. But the world takes off its hat to Lindbergh, and the boy deserves it. It was because he didn't HAVE to do it that makes his feat stand out markedly. It was because he went alone, and without the usually sea equipment, radio, or sufficient food to tide him over a possible delay that causes the crowds to cheer.

Probably in all history no adverturer's career will stand out so prominently as will that of Captain Lindbergh. Yet to him his achievement was so simple,—so simply done as to be truly great. And the Mail-News is glad to join its readers and the press of the country in acclaiming the flight of Charles Lindbergh a world accomplishment.

HOW TO AVOID PROPAGANDA

Here is a free lecture to ourselves. It tells all about how to avoid propaganda of the "very appearance of evil" in running a newspaper.

Editors are sometimes charged with printing "news" articles thinly veiled with news interest but in reality propaganda for some commodity of merchandise or commercialized interest.

If an editor writes about the joys of motoring he is boosting the automobile game. If he gives special patience to the account of a wedding ceremony he is advertising the minister. If he advises eating raw carrots he is discriminating in favor of the vegetable man and against the canned goods merchant. If he stoops over his desk in a dark office and writes of the health-giving qualities of fresh air and sunshine he is hurting the practice of the physicians. If he publishes "nice" articles that tend to amend and patch up family difficulties he is hurting the business of the divorce lawyers.

Go on down the line of human effort and up the scale of human interest and you will find that it is hard to draw the line between what appears to be propaganda on the one hand and Simon pure journalistic effort on the other. In fact, such a line can not be drawn, and it doubtful if any considerable number of people want it drawn.

In our complex civilization there is only one way for an editor to avoid the pitfal of commercialism, whether originating from within or imposed from without. That way is to sell his paper and buy a farm (small down payment and the rest like rent,) and thereafter live the life of the independent tiller of the soil. There is another way of course, but we hestitate to do it, as the note we would leave might be construed as propaganda for the undertaker!

FLAG DAY, JUNE 14

One hundred and fifty years ago, or on June 14, 1777, the flag of the United States was adopted. It behooves all of the American people to properly display the national emblem on that day. Not promisciously nor irreverently, but in remembrance of what it stands for as the nation's banner.

CAN YOU SWIM?

Summer is approaching: Can you swim? The cool plunges will be tempting. Motorists will travel far from home. Trains will carry vacationists, seeking the quiet waters. Mothers and fathers will be anxious for the safety of their loved ones.

Swimming is one of the best forms of exercise and is highly beneficial and pleasurable in many ways. There is little excuse for any normal person not knowing how to take care of himself in water. Resolve now that you will not let the autumn sun go down upon your lack of knowing how to swim.

An increase of 200 dairy cows in Kern County in the last six months has raised the county's total to approximately 8,500, according to G. P. Penfield, dairy inspector. This is sufficient to meet the total local need of milk, but supplies only about one-third of the butter used in the county, according to Penfield. Dissatisfaction in the fluctuating agricultural market is said to be the cause of additional farmers going in for dairying during the past half year.

Director of Agriculture, G. H. Hecke has been in communication with the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, which, in co-operation with a number of other Texas agencies, is sponsoring a Farm Women's Tour in the West. This group will arrive in California during July, and the tour is planned in order to give them an opportunity of studying our co-operative organizations at work, as well as seeing as much California farm life as possible.

During April this year 774 cows were tested in Ventura County, as compared with 656 last April. The average milk and butterfat production for April showed a satisfactory increase over that for the same month last year. In April, 1926, there were sixty-four forty-pound cows and twenty-three fifty-pound cows tested in this county, while the same month this year seventy-three forty-pound cows and thirty-three fifty-pound cows were reported.

The annual Nevada County Farm Bureau Fair will be held on September 25 and 26 at Grass Valley. A greatly augmented exhibition of the county's agricultural and horticultural products is being planned. For the first time, livestock also will be shown.

Haying in Tulare County has been going on for some time, operations on barley, rye and alfalfa being in order. Hay hands looked for a difficult season and poor conditions following the storm which swept this county. A brief beating rain, and quite a bit of wind resulted in some of the barley, as yet uncut, being blown almost to the ground, but not down bad enough to prohibit cutting. Wheat fields suffered a nominal damage, but proved all right for cutting by harvest time.

The wet season afforded opportunity to growers to plant several thousand acres of barley in Tulare County this year, and warm weather, with rains at the right times, combined to promote a splendid crop. A lot of the barley is of such high quality that growers decided to harvest it for grain instead of feed.

The first Imperial Valley cantaloupes shipped by express to San Francisco brought $25 for standards and $15 for pony crates. In Los Angeles they brought $18 for standards and $14 for ponies.

MEMORIES

The flowers blossom in the meadows,
The birds are singing in the trees,
The poplars whisper in the wood
The songs of the ages.

The poplars still sing their songs,
But the one with whom I shared these,
Does she still think of them? I wonder.
Does she think of me?

The poplars still are waiting,
I have waited too;
She has not returned to me,
My hair has grown gray in the years of waiting.

—Eugene Tainter.

FISHIN'

In a little wooded canyon,
Rippling through a ferny glen,
Wound a tiny little brooklet
Where a trout leaps now and then;
That's where I go a fishin'.

A pole an' line an' can o'bait,
An' a patch o' green turf, hemmed by trees—
O'er hangin' a crystal, unspoiled pool
Waved by a fitful breeze;
That's how I go a fishin'.

There a speckled beauty waits
In that rippling little brook
An' boy! I bet I gets him—
Least I hopes he takes my hook.
That's how I likes fishin.'

SPRING

The moon was high, and on the lake
A thousand whispering voices spake
Of joy and sadnes sand of peace;
Each pine tree shook its feathery leaf
And in the branches was relief
For some poor, wandering, lonely bird.

The coolness of each mossy nook
Was like some dream in a fairy book.
Soft ferns and grasses covered the glen,
A sheltered nook for fairy men;
Here and there sweet flowers grew
And mingled with the Heavens blue;
Flowers, scattered as the stars above,
To show Dame Nature's kindly love.

The United States Weatehr Bureau announces that sunrise on Easter Sunday morning will be 5:31. Exactly at this hour hundreds of thousands of people all over this country will participate in outdooor religious services on tops of hills and mountains in thier immediate vicinity. The first Easter Sunrise services ever held in the world are credited to Mount Rubidoux at Riverside, Calif., and since that time the idea has spread all over this country and to some foreign countries. The fact that these nondenominational services attract hundreds of thousands of sincere reverent people is ample proof that the American people are religiously inclined. In San Francisco where it is said that people do not take their religion seriously enough more than twenty five thousand climb Mount Davidson every Easter Sunday morning and there take a sincere and reverent part in the Easter morning services.

Dreams of a thirty-hour trip from Los Angeles to New York were swept away in a high windstorm at Glendale, which completely wrecked a huge dirigible, under construction for transcontinental service. The loss is $30,000. The big ship, the creation of Thomas B. Slate, Glendale aeronautical engineer, was torn from its mast at the Glendale airport by the winds.

In a recent crop report issued by the Imperial Irrigation District, of Imperial County, 279,956 acres are credited to field crops, of which alfalfa is given 68,672 acres, barley, 47,022 acres, corn 25,855 and cotton 23,693 acres. Garden crop acreage is estimated at 92,890 acres, with lettuce occupying 42,674 of them and cantaloupes 37,186 acres. Permanent crops fill 14,501 acres in the Imperial Valley, according to the report, of which 9497 acres are in bearing.

The dairy industry in Santa Maria Valley is growing steadily and it is stated that at present there are about 4000 dairy cows in the valley. One creamery firm here ships 40,000 lbs. of milk to Los Angeles daily while another makes daily shipments of 4000 pounds of cottage cheese, 2500 pounds of sweet cream and 100 pounds of butter. Many local dairymen are shipping quantities of milk and cream both to the north and south.

And then— let electricity do all the hard work

JUNE may remind you of the day of days. Or perhaps a day that is coming this month.

But no matter, if you would take care of the hand she gave to you, give her the labor-saving electrical appliances. They do all the hard house work. They wash the clothes and dishes, clean the house, cook automatically, and do innumerable little tedious things that wear a woman so. They preserve the bloom of youth. They give her free hours to spend with the children.

Buy her these electrical appliances for a wedding present or for the anniversary. She will reward your thoughtfulness by being the same youthful pal, always.

Records Show Undue Proportion of Aged

Persons sixty-five years of age and over are rapidly increasing in number in the United States, there now being in the country 5,500,000 people who may be classed as aged persons, but of this number New York city has a relatively much smaller proportion of older persons than has New York state or the entire country, according to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, well-known statistician.

The marked reduction in mortalty during the last generation, and the very heavy immigration of adults in past decades who have now reached the period of old age, which Doctor Dublin placed at sixty-five years, are two of the factors that contribute to the increase.

New York state alone has 500,000 of the old people in this country, with more than 200,000 in New York city. This makes New York city the youngest large city in the world, Doctor Dublin said.

Old persons now constitute 4.9 per cent of the population, whereas in 1890 they constituted only 3.9 per cent.

About two-thirds of all aged persons are self-supporting, with one-sixth dependent for their support on governmental or private agencies, through military or civil pensions or various forms of relief, while the other sixth are cared for by children, other relatives or friends.

World's Record Photo Made by Chicago Man

The world's record for photography under a high power microscope has been broken for the third successive time by Robert G. Guthrie, chief metallurgist of a gas company in Chicago. He recently succeeded in taking a picture of a piece of steel magnified 15,500 diameters. What an immense magnification this is can be appreciated by realizing that a 25-cent piece, if actually enlarged that many times, would be a quarter of a mile across.

Mr. Guthrie's apparatus can separate and photograph structures that are only 1-200,000th of an inch thick. A vibration of even this infinitesimal distance is enough to spoil the exposure, which takes from one-half to one and a half hours. The lens is so powerful that the section which is recorded on the photographic plate is quite indistinguishable and invisible to the human eye.

On His Own Time

Here's the latest incident from Los Angeles, says a writer in the London Opinion. A certain film producer ordered his camera man to turn up at the studio one morning to shoot a scene. At the hour appointed he had not yet put in an appearance, so the producer rang him up on the phone.

The camera man's wife answered the call and wailed a piteous tale: "Yes, my husband's in," she sniffed; "he's sitting in the corner with a revolver and threatens to shoot me if I try to go out—just because I was late home last night, the jealous beast!"

"Say—look here!" roared the furious producer, "you tell him straight from me that in the daytime I've hired him to shoot films—if he wants to shoot you he's dashed got to do it at night, in his own time."

No Mercy for Rabbits

Roused by the annual crop losses of millions of dollars caused by rabbits, the Colorado legislature has permitted county commissioners to offer a bounty for each one killed. Boys earn pocket money in this way, getting a cent and sometimes more for each pair of ears. But the most successful method for combating the pest is through community drives. As many as 1,000 persons join in, herd the rabbits into V-shaped woven-wire traps and kill them with clubs. Last winter 500,000 were dispatched in this way.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Finnish Teachers Complain

Teachers in Finland are conducting an active campaign for improvement in the salary schedules which apply to them. They demand that they be placed upon the same level as that of certain other state employees, namely, train conductors, railway telegraph operators, track foremen, station watchmen, and track watchmen.—Alfred J. Pearson, United States Minister, Helsingfors.

State Controller Ray L. Riley has made public his annual report on the financial transactions of municipalities, counties and the state which shows that these political subdivisions increased their bonded indebtedness $62,616,972.60 during the fiscal year 1926. "Extensive municipal enterprises," declared Riley, commenting on the bonds voted. "confronting several of the larger cities of the state in developing water supplies and possible extension of municipal enterprises would seem to require a conservation of bond capacity. There is no evidence of retrenchment and on the contrary every political subdivision of the state is continually increasing its bonded indebtedness out of line with increased property values."

Full blame for the crash which sent the Golden Gate ferry Golden City to the bottom of San Francisco bay on the night of April 24 was placed on the shoulders of Captain Aanen Johnson, master of the ferry, in a verdict announced by Captain Frank Turner and Captain Joseph Dolan, United Staes steamship inspectors. Suspension of his license for six months, was the penalty imposed on Johnson. He was convicted of negligent inattention to duty in driving his craft full speed ahead through a dense fog. The master of the McCormick steamship Newport, with which the Golden City collided, was exonerated of all blame in the inspectors' report of their investigation.

Fifty-one days of horror and intense suffering in the desert, during which he kept alive by eating reptiles and drinking poisonous water, ended for J. W. Saferight, 59, an oil prospector from Los Angeles, when he was found last week by two cowboys and brought to Santa Barbara. Saferight was looking for some oil shale deposits when he drank from a spring near Los Olivos, 50 miles from Santa Barbara, which is reputed to be poisonous. Within a few minutes the prospector became so ill he swooned. When he recovered consciousness he was too ill and weak to move more than a few feet from the spring and his camping equipment.

One of the famous song successes of modern times, "Lay My Head Beneath A Rose," was written thirty-seven years ago by Grant Falkenstein, veteran musician of Fresno, as part of the score of an amateur minstrel show given in Ventura, Calif. Falkenstein is now the trainer and director of the state champion Sciots' Band of Fresno. Dimly he remembers that he wrote it in a hurry to fill the needs of an amateur bass singer and that the theme was suggested by the dying wish of a young California landscape gardener who in his dying hour asked his friends to "Lay my head beneath a rose." The song has recently been popularized by radio broadcasting.

Returning to the methods of the padres and Indians of early day California, Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Smith of Marysville will construct their country home in Sutter county of heavy rammed earthen walls and partitions. Figuring that such a building is adapted especially to the California climate, the Smiths will have walls 12 to 18 inches thick. The earth, of a proper consistency of clay and sand, while slightly damp is placed in forms, a few inches at a time and tamped hard, additional layers being put on until the required height is reached. Tiling will be used on the roof, which will be of mission style.

Jesse James himself—not a motion picture—has been admitted to the California Bar. Jesse is the original Jesse James' son—the Jesse James whose two guns scared many a stage coach driver out of a year's growth, who robbed and shot, and was slain. The present-day Mr. James has put aside his father's two guns and uses in their stead equally effective, if not as deadly, law books for his persuaders. Attorney James was but 6 years old when a bullet stopped his father's career of banditry. He has practiced law for twenty-five years in the Middle West and is in Los Angeles for his health.

Despite the fact that she is nearing four score years, Mrs. Emma C. Mabie, pioneer Trinity county prospectress, has not given up hope that she will yet find the pot of gold in the mine of which she has long dreamed. But her hopes in connection with the Brown Bear claim, near Deadwood, she admits, have been disappointed. So loading up her pick and shovels on her faithful burro she has departed elsewhere. Mrs. Mabie learned her first lessons in mining at the age of seven from her father back in the fifties.

Hotel construction will boost the Bakersfield building program for May about $65,000. The Bakersfield Community Hotel Corporation has been granted a $100,000 permit for construction of the new $125,000 El Tejon Hotel annex, raising the total for the first three weeks of May to almost $150,000.

Governor C. C. Young prepared the way for placing the statues of two illustrious and representative Californians in the Statuary Hall in Washington, D. C., by signing the bill, providing for the appointment of a commission to arrange for placing the busts of Father Junipero Serra and Rev. Thomas Starr King in the hall. Father Serra was the Franciscan missionary who founded the missions in California, while Rev. King was a Unitarian minister who played a prominent part in saving this state to the Union during the Civil War.
